

THE WORKING CLASSROOM

How to make school work for working-class students

“This is an excellent book: very well referenced, analytical, packed with stories and providing a commanding compendium of practical ideas for the classroom... A contemporary, compelling narrative about changing children’s lives.”

Roy Blatchford, Chair of ASCL’s
The Forgotten Third and author of
The A – Z of Great Classrooms.

www.crownhouse.co.uk

@CrownHousePub

Offers practical strategies and tools to help secondary schools address the needs of working-class students, including by building cultural capital and designing learning that is more engaging to working-class students.

Discover more about the authors and their book

@mj_bromley

Matt Bromley is an education writer and advisor with over twenty years' experience in teaching and leadership including as a secondary school headteacher, FE college vice principal, and multi-academy trust director.

@OTeaching

Andy Griffith has a proven track record for creating high impact training courses and interventions with students, teachers and leaders. His major career motivation is for education to be an engine for social justice.

Check out additional resources, blog posts and more!

www.theworkingclassroom.co.uk